

East German Guards Shoot At U.S. Military Police

Fire Repeatedly As Refugees Flee Into West

Incident Called Most Serious Since Border Barricaded

BERLIN (AP) — East German police fired repeatedly today on U.S. military police and West Berlin police after nine refugees broke through the barbed wire ringing off West Berlin.

No one was hit in the shooting and the Western police did not return the fire.

The nine refugees dashed into the American sector of West Berlin after their truck got stuck in the Communists' barbed wire entanglement.

Most Serious Incident

West Berlin police called the shooting the most serious incident since the Communists barricaded the border Aug. 13.

A U.S. Army spokesman confirmed there had been shooting. He said a U.S. military police patrol was at the scene but merely observed it.

East German police shouted warnings to the Americans and West Berlin police to stay away from the fence where the refugees' truck was stuck in the wire mesh and then opened fire with rifles and submachine guns, eyewitnesses said.

The East Germans kept shooting sporadically for an hour. They rushed an armored car to the border with a heavy machine gun mounted on it but did not fire.

Shooting Almost Daily

The East Berlin guards have been shooting almost daily along the tense Berlin border, bringing warnings from both West and East officials of the danger of setting off the powderkeg.

The shooting stopped shortly after the East German police had dragged the truck free from the wire fence.

West Berlin police said their forces and military police were never closer than 50 to 60 yards to the East Berlin police.

Including the nine refugees, a total of 20 East Germans escaped to West Berlin in the 24 hours.

United Fund Campaign Is Extended

Salem's United Fund Drive, still $26,167.20 short of its $51,767 goal, will be extended into next week.

Co-chairmen Horace K. Schwartz and James T. Schaeffer announced today.

The campaign, which opened Oct. 3, originally was scheduled to wind up last night.

"We strongly urge every worker to get his job cleaned up as quickly as possible," Schwartz said. A meeting of all team captains has been called for noon Monday at the Lape Hotel.

Total collections in cash and pledges this morning stood at $55,599.80. This is just under 70 per cent of the goal.

The professional-non health team today became the second of the 12 United Fund teams to go over its quota. This team, led by Captain Earl R. Miller and Co-captain Robert Wilson, has exceeded its quota of $2,100 by one per cent.

The professional-non health team is composed of lawyers, salesmen, real estate brokers, accountants, insurance agents, collection agencies and their employees, ministers and employees of the churches.

The professional-health team which went over the 100 per cent mark Thursday, was the first team to exceed its quota.

Will Review 'Cold Peace' Issues

Kennedy Summons Security Council

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy calls the National Security Council to the White House today to review U.S. strategy for dealing with "cold peace" issues.

The Berlin crisis obviously was up for scrutiny, and possibly the Communist threat to Southeast Asia which prompted Kennedy to order Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor to South Viet Nam for an on the spot survey.

Taylor, Kennedy's military adviser, leaves on Sunday. Among those making the trip with him will be Walt W. Rostow, the President's special assistant on security affairs.

Policy toward Berlin occupied Kennedy's flying time Thursday on a trip in which he divided attention between educational and military strength. During hops between Washington and North Carolina and back again, he conferred in his private compartment with high U.S. officials directly associated with formulating policy to meet the Soviet threat to the West's position in Germany.

While at Ft. Bragg to witness paratroop, weapons and guerrilla warfare demonstrations by the 82nd Airborne Division, Kennedy used the phrase "cold peace" to describe the state of the world.

Earlier, at Chapel Hill, the chief executive offered this general objective for an age in which two opposing powers have the capacity to destroy each other:

"While we do not intend to see the free world give up, we shall make every effort to prevent the world from being blown up."

Kennedy, speaking from notes, addressed a crowd of some 32,000 in the University of North Carolina's sun-warmed stadium before receiving an honorary doctor of laws degree.

Kennedy indirectly disputed arguments against his administration's policy from opposite sides of the political fence, where it has been termed too weak or too menacing.

He said it is a dangerous illusion to believe U.S. attitudes "can be encompassed in one slogan or one adjective, hard or soft or otherwise, or to believe that we shall soon meet total victory or total defeat."

Anti-Hoffa Group Bolts Teamsters

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A splinter group of anti-Hoffa Teamsters here has bolted the international union and set up their own.

Their spokesman said the newly formed Drivers and Warehousemen's Union has applied for an AFL-CIO charter.

The revolt hit Teamsters Union Local 413, which has 4,600 members in 22 Ohio counties.

More than 20 past or present members of the local, headquartered here, organized the new union at a meeting Wednesday night. The action wasn't made public until Thursday night.

Paul L. Thompson, Columbus attorney and general counsel for the new union, said the revolt started because of the splintering group "didn't like" James Hoffa, Teamsters Union president, and "doesn't like the Teamsters representation here in Columbus."

Thompson said several hundred members of Local 413 are being asked to sign petitions calling for collective bargaining elections among companies having contracts with the local. He declined to disclose the number of firms involved.

The attorney said he expected no difficulty getting signatures from 30 per cent of the Teamsters in each of the firms. That's the amount needed to require the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) to hold an election that determines which union shall represent employees.

Khrushchev's New Proposal Unencouraging

U.S. Says It Fails To Advance Berlin Accord Prospects

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials said today Premier Khrushchev's latest package proposal for a German settlement failed to advance the prospects of East-West agreement to end the Berlin crisis.

They also found nothing encouraging in the Soviet leader's declaration of readiness to attend a summit meeting to achieve a peaceful solution of the crisis. A summit conference, U.S. leaders say, should come only as the end result of lower-level negotiations which would assure success at the summit.

Mr. K Sends Letters

Moscow Radio reported Thursday night that Khrushchev had written two letters on current East-West tensions, one to a group of labor members of the British Parliament, the other to the chairman of the Japanese Council Against Nuclear Tests.

In both he asserted the willingness of the Soviet government to enter into negotiations with the Western powers. In the letter to Chairman Kaoru Yasui of the Japanese council, he declared his personal readiness to meet Western leaders "in order to find a way out of the present difficult situation."

Some of the points of his proposed Berlin-German settlement may be negotiable from the Western point of view. However, all are believed to have been covered in recent talks by President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko. And Kennedy summarized those talks this week by saying that they had failed to provide a basis for negotiations.

It does appear that at present the Western policy position in responding to the Soviet Union on specific issues is severely handicapped by lack of agreement among the United States, Britain, France and West Germany. They are divided over what, if any, concessions they can make to Moscow if Khrushchev will modify his basic demand for a change in the status of West Berlin.

Four Cars, 2 Trucks Involved In Mishap

A chain reaction accident involving four cars and two trucks at the intersection of Rt. 7 and the Western Reserve Rd., between North Lima and Boardman, at 5:30 p.m. Thursday sent two persons to Youngstown South Side Hospital with injuries and caused an estimated $8,000 to $10,000 in property damage.

According to the State Highway Patrol, the accident started when a truck driven by Richard E. Hummel, 26, of RD 3, Lewis-ville, Pa., traveling north on Rt. 7, failed to stop for a red traffic light and crashed into a car driven by Clara L. Anderson, 52, of Poland, who was going west on the Western Reserve Rd.

The truck then careened off and struck another auto operated by August A. Geraci, 42, of Cleveland, who had stopped for the traffic light while southbound on Rt. 7.

Canton Plant Is Included In Consolidation

Perrault Named to Direct Operations In Heavy Equipment

Consolidation of Salem and Canton operations of the E. W. Bliss Company into a single Heavy Equipment Division, with headquarters in Salem, was announced today by Carl E. Anderson, president.

George Perrault, Jr., presently vice president and manager of the Salem Division, will manage the new division.

Corporate headquarters for Bliss will continue to be located in Canton.

Geographically, the two plants of the new Heavy Equipment Division are only 30 miles apart and their facilities are complementary. Each plant is equipped to handle heavy metal sections from fabrication or casting through heat-treating, machining and assembly and the combining of these two units into a single operating facility with approximately a million square feet of floor space, will enable the company to expand its activities in the custom-built machinery field, it was explained.

The move also provides a more versatile contract manufacturing capability than has previously been available.

Employment Gain Seen

While no immediate effect on employment levels at either plant is expected, the company is confident that sufficient additional business will develop in the near future to increase employment at both the Salem and Canton plants.

There has been some talk of further expansion at the Salem factory but no mention of this was made in today's announcement of the consolidation which favors Salem.

Production of the new Division will include the company's complete line of rolling mill equipment, heavy mechanical and hydraulic metalworking presses, large custom machinery, and special contract items. A number of rolling mill and heavy press orders are now being processed and contract work currently includes a 140-foot diameter radio telescope, components for nuclear submarines and missiles.

Rep. Hays Disavows Link With Salesman

Rep. Wayne L. Hays, 18th Dis- trict congressman, today disavow- ed any connection between his of- fice and a salesman he said has been using his name in making calls on district householders and businessmen.

Rep. Hays said he has learned the salesman first tells the pros- pect that he is making a survey for the congressman to find how his constituents felt in regard to certain legislation that may come before Congress. That leads to an offer of "service" — at a fee of $40 to $50, Rep. Hays said.

"There is no connection whatso- ever between my office and this salesman," Rep. Hays said. He said the salesman has been re- ported working in Belmont and Columbiana counties, including Co- lumbiana village.

Chief Asks That Fire Prevention Be Observed Daily

Although National Fire Preven- tion Week ends Saturday, Fire Chief Clarence Wright urges that Salem residents make every day a fire prevention day.

"Our fire loss here is due pri- marily to home fires," Chief Wright stated, "and cooperation from citizens in eliminating, or otherwise correcting, common hazards will make their home a safer place in which to live and help us to reduce the annual toll of life and property lost in un- necessary fires."

Chief Wright lists the following hazards which should be avoided:

1. Ashes not in metal containers.
2. Accumulated rubbish.
3. Oily rags and mops not in metal containers.
4. Flammable liquids not properly stored.
5. Heating device not properly installed.
6. Defective flue or flue stops.
7. Vent pipe or smoke pipe in need of repair.
8. Gas fire heater unvented.
9. Combustibles too near heat- ers.
10. Fuse box over-fused.
11. Extension cords, excessive length, defective.
12. Electric circuits overloaded.

Chief Wright said the fire de- partment will be happy to assist anyone who would like to have a fire prevention inspection made of his home.

Now that the fall season is here, the fire chief reminds citizens that they are not permitted to burn leaves on paved streets. He suggests that leaves be burned in curb lawns or on dirt streets or alleys away from buildings and adjoining property.

Chief Wright also urges that leaves not be burned late at night since passers-by frequently be- come alarmed and report such fires to the station.

It Isn't Easy For Britain

It sounds like something to have been expected when the British government tells Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko it will back the United States in Berlin. But it isn't easy for Britain to make even an obvious commitment to favor anything that might help Germans.

No British government can lose sight of the popular British feeling that Germany is still the source of chief concern—that what happens to Berlin is relatively unimportant. Britons wouldn't fight for Berlin.

They wouldn't fight for West Germany, if it were a matter of free choice. In two wars Germans have done their best to destroy Britain, and their best was very good. They tried to destroy Britain with air power, first with zeppelins and cumbersome bombers, then with high-level bombers and missiles.

They did their best to cut out the heart of British manpower at Dunkirk. They precipitated World War II, as they had precipitated World War I, by treating British treaty as scraps of paper and challenging British governments to defend their national honor.

At the climax of the events of the '30s, they brought Britain to shame by humiliating its prime minister with a betrayal at Munich. They collaborated with Ireland to make trouble for Britain and used Irish ports for submarine operations against British shipping.

Like the Russians, Britons and their public officials swallow hard when told about the necessity of doing thus and so in behalf of the Germans, whether East Germans or West Germans. Only Americans have the rare privilege of being able to forget completely what the Germans did in two wars to the countries they tried to obliterate and the hordes of people they killed in the process.

British Foreign Secretary Lord Home is reported to have told his fellow Conservatives at Brighton on Wednesday that the Western Allies at last have convinced Gromyko they will stand together against Russia keeping open the access routes to Berlin. The unmentioned triumph of Lord Home in this regard would be to convince his fellow Conservatives that Britain should lift a finger to defend its deadliest enemy of the past and its most feared potential enemy of the future.

Two Kinds of Berlin Firmness

It's a shock to have the mayor of Berlin, Willy Brandt, assuring his fellow townsmen after two days in New York City that Americans will stand militarily firm in Berlin. Mayor Brandt is correct about that.

But it does not follow that Americans will stand firm on the issue of Berlin. There is not now and never has been any logical defense of the postwar arrangement that divided the German capital and made friction between the Western Allies and the Communist bloc inevitable. It was a stupid mistake that has had tragic consequences, and any proposal in good faith for undoing it would be given consideration.

Until recently, the official line has been that Germany would be unified by a plebiscite and that this would take care of all problems, including Berlin. This hasn't ceased to be the official line, but the official thought now is that Germany will not be unified in the foreseeable future by a plebiscite or by any other means.

BERLIN IS GOING to have to find a permanent footing. It cannot exist indefinitely as a hostage of the Western Allies in the Communist camp — an issue made to order for confusion and terror whenever the Soviet Union wanted to use it for that purpose.

The United States and its allies will stand militarily firm in Berlin; they will not be pushed out. But no one can assume that the United States will stand firm on the settlement of the Berlin problem, because in fact the problem never has been settled.

It is the absence of a Berlin settlement that is causing tension in 1961, as it has caused tension before and will cause it again later if nothing is settled.

Ohio Isn't Mentioned Now

A fellow with a long memory was wondering what became of the pre-World War II threat of "OHIO"—Over the Hill in October. He said here we are again with a military buildup in progress and he hadn't heard about absences without leave.

By mid-October, most of the 155,300 National Guardsmen and Reservists called up since the Kennedy administration began to strengthen the armed forces will be on duty. Of 133,000 men to be ordered into the Army, nearly 120,000 already are on the job. Eighteen squadrons of Air Force reserves with 435 planes are on the job.

In every part of the country citizens are aware of other citizens who either have left or soon will leave for military duty. But it's a fact that all this has been done so far with a minimum of the joshing reflected in "Over the Hill in October"—and not all the joshing was funny. Americans didn't have their hearts in mobilization before World War II hit them. If the Japanese hadn't shocked them to action by attacking Pearl Harbor, mobilization would have been a difficult task.

This, too, should have bearing on whether or not the United States is developing the "credibility" to do what it has the "ability" to do if it thinks it must do it. There's no joshing at all in 1961.

Anything to Fool the Fools

An enterprising bid for favor by a company making a radar detector for motorists dredged up the fact that 56 of 77 auto editors favored them. The other 21 voted against them. We're with the majority, if the auto editors will let us muscle in.

The curious twist in this poll is the reason for favoring the gadget, which emits a warning sound when a car is in a radar zone. Naturally, a driver slows down when he hears the sound. He does not want to be arrested for going over the speed limit.

This produces a good effect for a bad reason—and that's why we're inclined to vote with the 56 auto editors in favor of the gadget. Radar units, or rather the signs warning that radar zones are being entered, must be credible to be effective.

So what do we do? We erect something to make the warning gadgets go beep-beep and keep all drivers so conscious of the possibility of being arrested they'll be afraid to exceed the posted speed limits—and what that would do to highway accidents shouldn't happen to a beeper that got fooled by an electric eye. Hearing would be believing.

Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Department of Alcoholic Studies, begun at Yale 40 years ago by late Prof. Yandell Henderson, has been transferred to Rutgers. Maybe Yale figures that when a department has been studying cause and effect of drinking for nearly half-century without solving matter it ain't trying.

Eli began study of alcoholism away back when a college could afford to buy samples of American liquors. It was, in fact before four-to-one dry martini had completely changed American behavior patterns. Study started in prohibition days when all drinks were so mysterious they needed special research. Even prohibition beer had a strange effect on human beings.

Why Yale took on the job is not known, but it had big advantage due to fact it is a college in city center where saloon and cafe drinking are close at hand and can be studied without taxi fares. You can leave any laboratory at Yale and find a bar within two blocks if not across the street.

All colleges make a study of liquor to some extent, with the old grads helping supply special study material at football and reunion time. Today, however, no college can afford high cost of liquor samples, and national institute has provided a quarter million dollars to college which would take over job. (Rutgers won and chose the north goal with the wind at its back.)

Study from now on should include not only effects of liquor but problem of how anybody can afford to drink. If there are any ceremonies in transfer of study from Yale to Rutgers how about an Eli toast "Here's how" to Rutgers, with Whiffenpoofs singing "Sweet Adeline"?

THE PEACE MAKER

Nikita favors peace for all
And doesn't pause for breath:

He'd simply spray the whole wide world
With fall-out's Dust of Death.

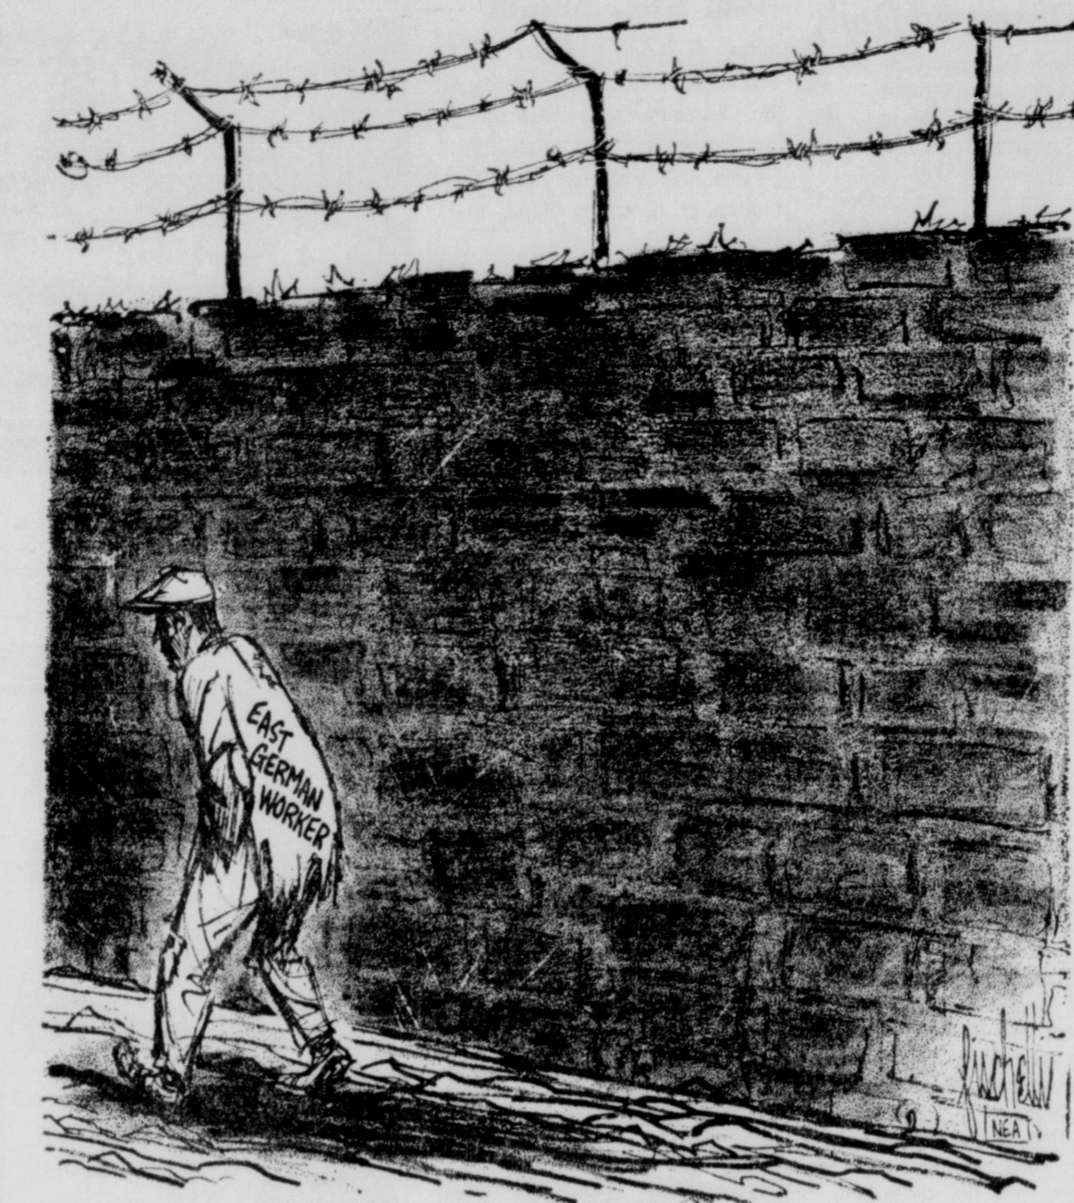

BROADWAY PRODUCER says he will help playgoer beat high cost of show tickets, by abolishing out-of-town tryouts and hold them in New York with public admitted at cut rates. He says he would let public be the critics. This is bravery beyond call of duty. Many an author and producer might get shot long before opening night.

Many shows get into tryout stage when they are pretty terrible. The audience would be attending rehearsals. They would be entitled to their money back, at $1.50 a head, in some cases. On the other hand there may be millions of playgoers who have longed to see how so many bad plays ever reached the $9 ticket stage. They might eagerly pay to get a closeup at low price.

Waitress in New York who ignored 54 traffic tickets was fined $975 or offered 54 days in jail. The female of the species is more contemptuous of parking meters than the male. In case of a waitress, if she worked in a lunchroom, maybe everything, even parking tickets, seemed so much baloney and goulash. She lived, perhaps, in her world of hot dishes and displayed natural aversion to hard-boiled cops, and cold laws.

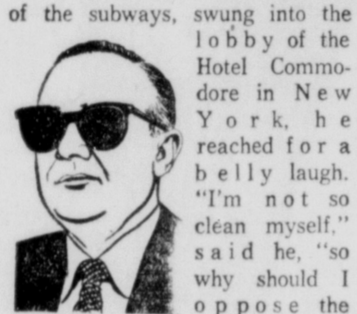

Mrs. Khurshchev says Russia will start no war. We have an idea the little woman is boss and that Nikita does no furniture-pounding and shoe-waving around the house. It's to be hoped she often tells him after his return from day's hard work in the violence factory, "Listen, Nickie, don't you go off the deep end. I won't stand for it."

Sherpa mountain climbers have formed a union. They want a sliding scale, obviously. Possibly with time and a half for encounters with Abominable Snowman.

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

When cane-carrying Mike Quill, looking dapper enough to have come off Park ave, instead of out of the subways, swung into the lobby of the Hotel Commodore in New York, he reached for a belly laugh.

Victor Riesel
But he did not know the contents of the Treasury's Internal Revenue Service (IRS) Docket No. 94, 562. Otherwise "Mike" might not have been so free swinging with his comparisons as he joined 150 other national labor chiefs in their high command session.

Docket 94,562 is the packet containing the financial records of Jimmy Hoffa's intimate friend, Joey Glimco, slugger par excellence, and boss of many a Chicago Teamster local.

Joey G. comes by this power understandably — what with a record of at least 22 arrests ranging from charges of murder to charges of disorderly conduct.

THERE ALSO IS a conviction for larceny. But that is not in the docket. In it are the Treasury Department's charges that Glimco owes the government at least some $145,000.

Glimco, an officer and business representative of Taxicab Drivers, Maintenance and Garage Helpers Union, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Local 777 is being dunned by the government for some $95,600 in "deficiencies" and some $49,500 in penalties. This is on money drawn from the union.

It isn't only the Glimco docket which should fascinate the Quill contingent. There are six other inter-related dockets. They are now in the U.S. Tax Court.

Among these seven is a docket for union Local 777 itself. The five other officers.

The union itself is charged with owing the government some $94,000 for taxes due in 1956, and for 1957 some $121,380.

That's right. The union has just been denied tax-exempt status retroactive to 1956.

MARK THIS WELL. This means that the Internal Revenue Service is charging that this local is not a union, but, in effect, is run for the benefit of one or more private persons.

This means that the union's income can be taxed just as if it were a corporation. Thus, if the union's income is less than $25,000 a year, the tax would run about 30 per cent. If the income is higher — and which of the Teamster locals is not! — the tax runs to 52 per cent of the monies collected.

Of course, the union is protesting in tax court that it has been a bona fide labor union organized since 1941. But the tax court judges may reject this. And this decision may be upheld by a court of appeals. There could be a crack at the Supreme Court. But this is not likely.

IF THE COURTS uphold the Internal Revenue Service, a precedent will have been set. Unions not meeting the standards of Internal Revenue could be subject to millions of dollars in taxation — just as any business.

If such a precedent is set, the responsibility will rest on those who mulcted unions — and not on those who were mocked for battling the looters.

This is not a campaign against unions by the Treasury Department. It is part of the methodical review of strategy between high Treasury officials and Attorney General Robert Kennedy. It goes deeper than the locals themselves.

Glimco and five of his colleagues in arms have been denied by the IRS the right to charge off as legitimate expenses such items as the cost of running their cars, unexplained tabs, hotel expenses and money drawn for the 57 Teamsters convention in Miami Beach. IRS has also insisted that "Christmas money" be counted as income.

THIS "CHRISTMAS MONEY," for example, ran from $500 to $2500-a-year. The hotel tabs for Glimco ran at the Oak Park Arms Hotel in Oak Park, Ill., for instance, from $474 to $2,557-a-year. The Treasury went back to 1954. It could dig further. But the test is for '54 through '57. During these years, for example, IRS says that Glimco forgot to add from $30,921 to $47,220 to his annual take.

This is just the beginning. It is fair that it be determined which union is of the working people and which is created to see how much can be taken from these working people.

Mr. Quill had better check his enthusiasms until the courts decide.

other adult and to make allowances for his peculiarities.

Seven Valid Noes

Dear Ann: I am a divorced woman with three lovely children. The man I've been going with for two years is a widower. He has four of the wildest, most ill-mannered kids I've ever seen in my life.

His youngest child is so mean and destructive that they can't even keep a canary in the house. Something "mysterious" has happened to every pet that they've ever owned.

The only arguments Clayton and I have are over the children. He says my son is a sissy and he thinks my girls are stupid. I've told him that his children are savages and if I was in charge of them they'd toe the mark or else.

Do you think we could have a good marriage in the light of these facts? I want to marry him but I'm worried. JANGLED NERVES.

Dear Jangled: There are seven very good reasons why you should not marry Clayton. His four and your three.

You say the only arguments you ever have are over the children. That can put any marriage on the rocks. The word from here is no.

Mr. Quill had better check his enthusiasms until the courts decide.

All Doubts Dispelled

By DAVID LAWRENCE

JFK Serves Notice U.S. Will Fight If Necessary

If the men in Moscow have been under the illusion that the United States isn't determined to stand firm in the current crisis over Berlin, they must have been dismayed by President Kennedy's grim words at his Wednesday press conference.

It was an opportunity for the President David Lawrence to allay rumors that the American position might be weakening, and he made the most of it.

Foreign Minister Gromyko, by his talks with Secretary Rusk and with President Kennedy and with Prime Minister Macmillan, presumably has learned just what the Western position is but the world had no definite or authoritative information until the President spoke.

In fact, Mr. Kennedy was careful in the choice of words. He said that all the conversations with the Soviets thus far had merely been exploratory—an attempt to define precisely the position of each side—and that this should not be called negotiations.

This, of course, is a technical use of the word negotiations, but it has nevertheless a particular purpose at the moment for the United States government doesn't want to be represented as having advanced any compromise suggestions.

What then did all the conversation of the last 10 days mean, and what is meant by the President's statement that the American ambassador to the Soviet Union, Llewellyn Thompson, is shortly to go from Washington to Moscow to resume talks?

Those who are familiar with the history of diplomacy will recognize all this as a device that is used to keep the door open when there's a dispute that shows no signs of being immediately resolved. Indeed, Mr. Kennedy said: "On the substance, we are not in sight of land."

IT WAS IMPORTANT for President Kennedy to make it clear to the Kremlin that he hasn't retreated or receded and that he means to go ahead—even if it means war.

What better way to emphasize this than to say it over radio and television to the assembled press in answer to impromptu questions?

The Moscow government must make up its mind soon whether it will seek any further advances in the cold war and take risks on the American government's policies.

Thus, for example, Mr. Kennedy in a few words gave the Russians something to think about when he announced that he had ordered Gen. Maxwell Taylor of the White House staff to go to Viet Nam and look things over.

The President didn't say what kind of assistance America would give to its ally in Southeast Asia but left the plain inference that, when the general returns with his report, a decision will be made whether to send American military forces into Southeast Asia. A war in that region could involve Red China, which has no nuclear weapons.

This also is a significant way of advising Moscow that the United States isn't becoming preoccupied by the Berlin crisis and recognizes that there are things to be done in Laos and elsewhere to counter Communist aggression.

IT WAS A METHOD of letting the Soviets know that the United States is not willing to give up in Laos either and stands ready there, as it does in West Berlin, to use force if necessary.

No light was shed by the President on any specific plan to settle by mutual agreement the disputed points in the Berlin controversy. This is not surprising. For Mr. Kennedy purposely gives the impression that he is biding his time and will not take precipitate action of any kind.

He speaks of further conferences by the ambassadors of the two sides and some further talks with the other Western allies as to how the problems shall be handled in the next few weeks or months.

It has been reported, for instance, that President de Gaulle of France doesn't think there should be any negotiations until the Russians give some sign of making concessions.

He is said to have been displeased by the recent talks with Foreign Minister Gromyko in the U.S. and as inclined to describe them as negotiations.

Mr. Kennedy's words were undoubtedly intended to reassure the French president that no attempt had been made to carry on negotiations. Externally at least, this helps to preserve allied solidarity.

THE COUNTRY cannot tell from anything Mr. Kennedy said to the press on Wednesday whether or not there's going to be war but neither can Nikita Khrushchev.

One point needs to be stressed. The President of the United States cannot trifle with the security of this country and the Soviet premier ought to take a good look at Mr. Kennedy's exact words.

He pointedly referred to America's military build-up in recent months. When a President says that the United States means to defend its rights by force, if necessary, such a statement should not be discounted but should be taken seriously.

That's why Mr. Kennedy's comments at his press conference this week could play a vital part in shaping the future course of events in the world.

Leaping to Conclusions

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Jumping to conclusions, and how many do you agree with?

Most books on how to achieve success are written by people you never heard of before.

A woman will believe any man who flatters her beauty, but always doubts a man who praises her choice of hats.

If science ever perfects push-button weather control, the guy who pushes the button will be the most hated man in America. There just isn't any kind of weather that pleases everybody.

Any goal in life is still possible for a teen-ager who studies in a home that has neither TV set nor telephone. We might never have heard of Abraham Lincoln if he had been born after Alexander Graham Bell.

The only admirable trait I know of in heavy gamblers is that, unlike the occasional bettor, they rarely complain publicly about their losses. It seems to be part of their unwritten code to take the blows of chance in silence.

A poor man always pays his grocery bill first; a man living ostentatiously beyond his means generally pays his grocer last—if he ever does.

The surest way to lose a girl you are courting is to send her fresh flowers every day. The surest way to keep from boring her is to borrow money from her. No woman can ever lose interest in a man who owes her money.

It takes more real courage to learn to eat raw oysters than it does to rob a bank.

On the surface we like the companionship of those who share our vices, a comradeship often born of necessity. Deep within us, however, we despise them for being as weak as we are.

A boss may be telling the truth when he says he doesn't want to be surrounded by "yes men"—but he does want to be partly surrounded by them. There is nothing lonelier or more frightening than to be in power without someone around to assure you that you are wise.

Many of us take pride in keeping up with what is going on in the world. But not one man in five over 40 years of age can name three new popular tunes written this year. Most can't even name one.

It takes more than honesty for grownup person to keep a completely truthful diary of what he does and thinks. He has to be pretty foolhardy, too.

The poorest investor in the world is a man who deliberately seeks happiness by marrying a wealthy woman.

For some reason, a left-handed girl holds a mysterious fascination for a right-handed man. He thinks she may be different from other girls. She isn't.

Churchgoers who read astrology books and also carry a rabbit's foot for good luck are merely trying to play both ends against the middle.

Optimism never dies. Even in such a cynical age as ours there are still people who believe the pictures they see in seed catalogues.

Barbs

A prison sentence for a Kentucky man upset his marriage plans, but he'll still be tied down. On most farms an old coat seems to always fit a scarecrow to a T.

Reeses to Observe 25th Anniversary

Friends and relatives are invited to attend open house in honor of the 25th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Reese of Washington St. Lisbon. Mrs. O. C. Caldwell to Retire From Active Church Career

Mrs. Leona Will Caldwell, widow of the late O. C. Caldwell of Lisbon, will leave for Florida the end of October, where she will make her home at the Penny Farms.

Mrs. Caldwell came to Lisbon in 1938 and many remember her versatile recitations delivered before high school assemblies and club groups. She did not entertain as an amateur for she was a Chautauqua lecturer and monologist for 10 years, traveling in every state and four Canadian provinces.

She was a teacher of speech and English in the high school at Sabina and did substitute teaching in Lisbon High School.

The main interest of Mrs. Caldwell has been her church activities. She has organized prayer groups and was a prayer group leader for Dr. E. Stanley Jones in New York and Virginia for several summers.

She is a member of the Methodist Church in Lisbon and has worked in the Church School, young people's groups and Woman's Society of Christian Service in which she has been spiritual life leader for the last eight years.

The Steubenville district of the Methodist Church licensed her as a Methodist minister in 1953. She has served as interim minister at Franklin Square Methodist Church this last summer. She is a member of the American Association of Women Ministers.

During the winter of 1958 she was spiritual adviser in a home for the rehabilitation of alcoholic girls in Tampa, Fla.

In 1960 she was a member of an interdenominational group, The Embassy of Understanding, and did volunteer missionary work in Mexico and the Hawaiian Islands.

She has traveled extensively abroad. In 1959 she visited the Holy Land. At this time the impressions made upon her by the inhabitants of the Blind Orphan School in Bethlehem were so personal to her that she has donated all honorariums she receives from her lectures and slides to the school.

Mrs. Caldwell received her bachelor of science degree in education from Ohio State University, masters in speech from Columbia University, N. Y., and post graduate work at Ohio State.

Miami-Colorado Clash Opens Collegiate Grid Weekend

Squads Begin Fighting For Conference Titles

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Colorado's Buffalos invade the Miami Orange Bowl tonight looking for a victory over the Miami Hurricanes—and also looking to come back New Year's Day as the Big Eight's representative in the Orange Bowl football game.

The Buffalos, victorious in all three starts, present a solid line-up, bulwarked by their great guard Joe Romig and directed by sharp-shooting quarterback Gale Weidner.

Directions To St. Mary's Stadium

Following are directions to St. Mary's Stadium in Akron, site of the Salem-Akron Hoban football game Friday at 8 p.m.

Drivers entering Akron on Rt. 18 should make a left turn onto Main St., continue south on Main St. for three miles to Long St. A right turn onto Long will lead to the stadium, which is at the end of Long St.

Drivers entering Akron on Rt. 224 should turn right onto Main St. and continue north until they reach Long St. (second traffic light after crossing a bridge) and turn left to the stadium.

Weidner, chosen back of the week by The Associated Press last Wednesday.

In New Orleans Sugar Bowl, home of Tulane, the host Green Wave meet Virginia Tech of the Southern Conference while Boston College travels to play Detroit's Titans in the Motor City.

Colorado is the favorite to take the Big Eight crown and last week showed why when it came from a 19-0 deficit in the last 13 minutes to beat Kansas 20-19. Weidner passed for the three touchdowns with a tremendous exhibition of precision play-call-

Directed To 575 Institutions

Sports Groups Propose Anti-Gambling Fight

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A sweeping program to combat the menace of gambling to intercollegiate athletics has been proposed by officers of four national administrative and coaches' organizations.

Released through NCAA headquarters here, the proposals were directed to officers of the 575 NCAA institutions and the entire memberships of the National Association of Collegiate Commissioners, the American Football Coaches Association, and the National Association of Basketball Coaches.

Walter Byers, NCAA executive director, said the program was endorsed by the officers of the four organizations following a review of information and suggestions from a variety of college agencies, the New York County district attorney's office, and the U.S. House of Representatives' permanent subcommittee on investigations.

The proposals were prompted by the outburst of "point spread" scandals in many sections of the country during the 1960-61 basketball season.

The college athletic leaders stressed that "colleges must lead the way by pursuing their own self-improvement program."

Of the 16 recommendations, 10 are directed toward improving basic procedures in college athletic administration and would be implemented by NCAA, conference or institutional action. Five others are directed at organized gambling, and another is made to regional accrediting associations to strengthen general academic requirements.

The greatest challenge facing college administrators, the report says, is the problem of young men attending college for purely sports reasons. It asks for a re-examination of athletic rules to make certain that selection of institutions is based on educational opportunities.

The report urges colleges to dismiss automatically any student, athlete or non-athlete, caught failing to report a bribe offer or serving as an agent for gamblers.

ing. The Hurricanes, upset last week by Navy, once again will be without soph quarterback George Mira, who suddenly has become the difference between victory and defeat. Mira is sidelined with bruised ribs, suffered three weeks ago against Kentucky, and Bobby Weaver will do the quarterbacking.

Mira Sidelined

Boston College, 1-2, will have to stop the Titans Jerry Gross, fourth-ranking total offense performer in the nation.

Tulane is winless in three starts while Virginia Tech has split a pair of games. The Green Wave get the nod though on a tough defense.

There'll be some attempts made at defense Saturday too, in Ann Arbor, Mich., when Michigan State and Michigan, ranked fifth and sixth respectively, in the current Associated Press poll, clash before a sellout crowd of 101,000 and a national television audience (ABC-TV, 1:30 p.m. EST).

MSU Meets Wolverines

Michigan State ranks first nationally in rushing defense and they'll need it to stop the Wolverines powerful backfield. State hasn't lost to Michigan since 1955.

Mississippi, the nation's No. 1 team, puts its 3-0 mark against Houston (1-1-1) while second-ranked Iowa hopes to make up for last week's squeaker against Southern California when it plays Indiana. Seventh ranked Ohio State goes against Illinois while Notre Dame (No. 8) goes against Southern Cal.

Third-ranked Alabama, leading the Southeastern Conference with a 3-0 mark, plans non-conference foe North Carolina State and fourth-rated Texas meets twice-beaten Oklahoma. Baylor, ranked ninth, meets tough Arkansas (2-1) while Maryland, 3-0 and rated 10th, plays North Carolina in an Atlantic Coast Conference battle.

British Open Champion, picked Littler, the American Open champion, "as almost unbeatable" in the matches which began this morning over the Royal Lytham and St. Annes course.

"Littler is playing the best golf of his life," Palmer said. "He is deadly accurate off the tee and brilliant around the greens."

The quiet and boyish-looking Littler, playing in Britain for the first time, has broken par on most of his practice excursions.

Littler and partner Doug Ford, met Ireland's Christy O'Connor and England's Peter Alliss in the first of four morning foursomes.

U.S. captain Jerry Barber dropped himself and Dow Finsterwald from the morning foursomes, and the draw came out like this:

Ford and Littler vs. O'Connor and Alliss.

Art Wall and Jay Hebert vs. John Pantom and Harnard Hunt.

Bill Casper and Arnold Palmer vs. Dai Rees and Ken Bousfield.

Bill Collins and Mike Souhak vs. Tom Halliburton and Neil Coles.

Four other foursomes—in which partners take alternate strikes at the ball—will be played in the afternoon. Sixteen singles (eight in the morning and eight more in the afternoon) are scheduled for Saturday's closing program.

Motorcycle Club Plans Race Sunday

The Western Reserve Motorcycle Club of Salem will stage a 25-lap feature race finale Sunday to determine the season champion on the club's new quarter mile speedway.

Competing in the event will be Tom Scharlow of Youngstown, Robert Worden of Akron, James Turturice of Warren, Donald Mathias of New Philadelphia, Mike Perkins of Toledo, Jim and Bill Wetzel of Painesville and many other top drivers in the state.

A regular eight-event program will be run before the 25-lap feature.

The track will open at noon for practice, with time trials getting under way at 1 p.m. The racing program begins at 2 p.m.

The speedway is located on the Middleton Road, one mile west of the Flying "B" Golf Course.

Injuries Continue To Hamper Bucks

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — It's just as well that Ohio State goes against personnel-poor Illinois, instead of one of the conference contenders, in Saturday's opening Big Ten grid fray.

The Bucks have about as many players on the hospital list as on the ready-to-go roster.

Slated to watch from the sidelines are first string quarterback Bill Mrukowski and starting offensive ends Chuck Bryant and Bob Middleton.

Out-of-State Squads Meet 11 Ohio Teams

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's collegiate gridgers get a chance Saturday to enhance their record against out-of-state opposition as 11 Buckeye teams meet squads from over the border.

Up to now the Ohioans have won 11, lost 10 and tied 1 in interstate play, and have rolled up a huge 534-278 scoring edge.

Adding zest to the 23-game Saturday slate are full programs in both the Ohio Conference and the Mid-Ohio League, along with scattered games in the Mid-American and Presidents' loops.

Houston Loss Could Cost Rymkus' Job

By The Associated Press
Houston might climb out of the Eastern Division cellar and it almost certainly might save the job of Coach Lou Rymkus if it beats Boston at Boston Friday night in the week's opening American Football League game.

The big action comes Sunday with three games. San Diego, the only unbeaten team in the league, and New York, leader of the Eastern Division, clash at New York in the feature.

Dallas, hot on the trail of San Diego in the Western Division, battles the Buffalo Bills at Buffalo. Oakland and Denver fight it out at Denver, with the loser to rest in the Western Division cellar.

Rymkus is walking the tight rope since his team has lost three games in a row and hit last place in the Eastern Division. Houston newspapers say Rymkus must win at Boston if he's to retain his job.

N.Y. Catcher Is 'Pleasant Problem'

Blanchard To Practice At Three Positions

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Blanchard, the New York Yankees' bench ace, will work out at both first base and the outfield next spring as well as at his usual catching job.

Ralph Houk, 42, revealed his plans for Blanchard Thursday after he signed a new two-year contract to manage the Yankees at a reported $45,000 annual salary.

"Blanchard is a very pleasant problem," said Houk at a news conference. "I intend to use him as a catcher and also work him in the outfield and at first base, in case anything should happen to Moose (Skowron)."

"Nobody noticed much but we worked him in the outfield practically every day this year. He used to be an outfielder, you know. He always was a good judge of a fly ball. In our judgment he can be an acceptable outfielder."

Blanchard was used in right field during the World Series with Cincinnati when Mickey Mantle was out of the lineup. Houk moved Roger Maris to center. With Elston Howard doing all the catching, there was no room for Blanchard back there. Still Blanchard came through with a pinch homer that tied the third game and hit a homer, double and single in the finale as the Yanks won in five games.

"You always like to improve your club," said Houk, who just finished his first year as Yankee manager. "We'd like to strengthen our bench. I don't anticipate any big changes. I would like to get one more starting pitcher but we wouldn't give up front line men, so we may not get one."

Browns' Lloyd Gets Test In Packers Game

CLEVELAND (AP) — The real test for Dave Lloyd, who has become the Cleveland Browns' regular middle line backer in his third pro season, will come Sunday when the Green Bay Packers meet the Browns at Municipal Stadium.

The Packers specialize in running over the opposition, but the 245-pound Lloyd is looking forward to the challenge.

"I really feel like I'm a member of the team now," he said Thursday. "Contact is the thing I always liked about this football."

"You learn something every week, but I feel right at home at middle line backer. That's where I did most of my playing in college."

Coach Paul Brown said Lloyd is one of the reasons the Browns have been tough to run against this season.

Ed Nutting, rookie offensive tackle who suffered a knee injury in the Washington game last Sunday, was put on the injured reserve list by the Browns Thursday. Errol J. Lindon, a rookie acquired from the Detroit Lions last month, was activated to replace Nutting.

Walt Disney's
"SIGN OF ZORRO"

Both are unbeaten and the game appears a toss-up among two well-coached, evenly-matched teams.

Indiana, edged last week 6-3 by Wisconsin, invades Iowa. Northwestern's running horde will be displayed before home fans against Minnesota.

Ohio State, ranked No. 7, entertains the Illini. The Buckeyes, rated with Iowa as the prime Big Ten favorites in pre-season figuring, have yet to show their expected explosiveness. They have ground out a 7-7 tie with Texas Christian and a 13-3 decision over UCLA.

Purdue, a 22-20 loser to Notre Dame last week, is host to Miami of Ohio, and Wisconsin entertains Oregon State in non-conference engagements.

Hutchinson Selected NL's Top Manager

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Freddie Hutchinson of the Cincinnati Reds collecting all except one of 176 votes, was selected the National League manager-of-the-year for 1961 today in the annual Associated Press poll.

A lone ballot for Alvin Dark of the third-place San Francisco Giants prevented Hutchinson from being a unanimous choice in the balloting by members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

With important contributions from new acquisitions pitcher Joey Jay and third baseman Gene Freese plus the consistent hitting of Frank Robinson and Vada Pinson, Hutchinson helped the Reds improve on their 1960 performance by 15 games and five positions in the standings.

The past season they won 93 games and lost 61. In 1960, the Reds had a 67-87 record, finishing sixth. Virtually no one gave them a chance to win their first pennant in 21 years.

Hutchinson, 42, previously managed the Detroit Tigers and St. Louis Cardinals.

Dark, in his first season as a manager, helped lift the Giants two notches in the standings. They finished fifth in 1960 under Bill Rigney and Tom Sheehan.

10-Release

By SHARON KAY RITCHIE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Releasing the ball properly is not difficult, but it is important. Once you let go of the ball, things are out of your hands. Nothing you can do after that — not even the most violent body English — has any effect.

The ball should be released smoothly, not dropped or thrown, but rolled. It should slide on to the lane with the grace and smoothness of an airplane making a perfect landing.

Phyllis Notaro, BPAA All-Star champion and the highest average woman bowler in the country, says the final slide should end as close to the foul line as possible, without crossing it, of course. The action arm should continue out as though reaching toward the target and continue upward in a natural, flowing motion.

The thumb should come out of the ball first. The left foot should be at a right angle to the foul line. Be balanced during the release. Phyllis advises trying to stand on your four line position until the ball reaches the pins.

If you can do this, you have been well balanced during the release and follow through.

NEXT: Follow through.

Mount Meets Muskingum Saturday

Impressive in a 16-6 loss to Wooster, Mount Union College meets a strong Muskingum team Saturday night at New Concord. Muskingum enters the game undefeated in Ohio Conference play (Denison and Marietta) but with a non-Conference loss to Baldwin-Wallace.

The Raiders are 1-2 overall and 1-1 in the Conference, beating Marietta and losing to W. Va. Wesleyan and Wooster.

Coach Duke Barret has two reasons for being optimistic about Mount's chances—halfback Ralph "Choo-Choo" Roberts and end Mike Smith, both juniors.

Roberts, one of the smallest OC backs at 5-5 and 160 pounds, has 218 yards on 44 carries to rank seventh in Conference rushing.

Meanwhile Smith has averaged 37.8 yards a punt, second only to Bob Smythe of Oberlin.

However, Barret has also learned this week that injuries have sidelined two regulars for the rest of the season—defensive end Norm Chervany with a calcium deposit on his right elbow and guard John Hantides with a knee injury in the Marietta game.

Muskingum holds a 20-8-1 edge on Mount in the series and won last year, 46-0.

Eddie Arcaro won the Remsen, a 2-year-old mile race, three times. He won with the Fighter in 1935, with Great Power in 1944 and with Misty Flight in 1957.

erous cases of employees ringing time cards for fellow workers, fake sick leave, sale of scrap without payment, to the city, political signs repaired and placed on city time and the sale of sports pool tickets, tip boards, numbers slips and raffle chances among employees on city time.

The audit showed one hour overtime allowed street department workers daily for a period at time-and-a-half pay. Service Director Wilson J. Myers and Street Supt. Robert Hinton were ordered to pay nearly $680 and Myers, Hinton and timekeeper George Vince to pay $1,833 to the city under two of the findings for recovery.

Examiners checked 1,642 sick leave certificates and said doctors denied signing 53 of them for 25 employees. Findings for recovery totaled $2,687.

Overpayment of vacation allowances to garbage and outside street departments to 48 employees brought recovery findings for $4,847.

A few workers were ordered to repay money received for full time work when it was disclosed that they left their city jobs early to report for work the same day on afternoon shifts at the Ford Motor Co., Canton, and Reubel Steel Corp., Massillon.

Khrushchev

proposal on the proposition that only a German peace treaty—by which he means a treaty signed separately with East and West Germany—"can remove the danger of a new war."

U.S. officials say that there is nothing the Western powers can do to prevent Khrushchev from signing a separate peace treaty with East Germany. But they have no intention of participating in a pact which would formalize the division of Germany. Basic Western policy still calls for ultimate German unification.

PICKETS TO REMAIN

Fairfield-Waterford Board Meets For Routine Session

Fairfield and New Waterford School Board held its regular meeting at the Crestview building Thursday evening.

They met with the architect, Robert Beatty of East Liverpool, to discuss the final payment of the contractors who worked on the new building.

Insurance agents were present to bid on the insurance policy for the buildings. William Kinnear agency of New Waterford received the policy with an annual premium of $1,790 for a blanket policy of $1,468,350.

The board authorized the purchase of 18 window shades for $8.90 a piece for the west side of the New Waterford building and the purchase of science and mathematics books for the library in the amount of $944. These books were purchased in accordance with the $319.23 donated by the Fairfield Boosters 4-H Club and the Fairfield Homemakers 4-H Club. Gratitude was expressed to the Fairfield and New Waterford Boosters Club for the $500 donated to the athletic fund. Two new sets of football jerseys have been purchased with part of the money.

A discussion was held on ways of promoting the one-mill operating levy that will be on the November ballot and be used toward the purchase of new school buses.

An adult education program was discussed. Any class subject in which 10 people are interested could be held at any of the three buildings. Classes discussed were art, sewing, welding, Spanish and Latin.

The calendar of coming events was checked. Today ended the first six-week period.

Saturday is the football game at Salineville at 2 p.m.

Oct. 21 the cheerleaders will attend a clinic at Columbus.

Alliance Explosion, Fire Injures Couple

ALLIANCE, Ohio (AP)—Lawrence Stout, 50, and his wife, Ruth, 46, were burned extensively in an explosion and fire at their third-floor apartment on the North Side today.

Chester C. Davison, city fire inspector, launched an investigation into the cause of the blast and if there was any connection with an apparent suicide note found at the scene.

The note—scribbled on a paper bag by Stout—mentioned despondency over ill health and financial problems and asked forgiveness from God for what he was about to do.

Damage was estimated at $5,500. No others were injured in the explosion.

Four Charged In Trumbull Vote 'Fraud'

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Charges against four persons in connection with alleged vote fraud in the November 1960 election were filed before County Judge Ray J. Rice in Brookfield Thursday by Trumbull County Commissioner Joseph J. Baldine.

Charges of willfully tampering with ballots were filed against Joseph M. Burrows, Rt. 2, Warren, former clerk of the board of commissioners; Mrs. Jacqueline Booth, Rt. 1, Newton Falls, former nurse at the Trumbull County Home; Mrs. Arvada Burbank, wife of former Warren Mayor W. C. Burbank, and Harry D. Evans of Niles, former Trumbull sealer of weights and measures.

An additional charge of knowingly conniving to help a person vote an absentee voter's ballot illegally was filed against Mrs. Booth, Evans and Mrs. Burbank.

Baldine, former mayor of Hubbard, was declared an 11-vote winner of the commissioner post over Dr. W. A. James, Republican, after he filed a contest of election suit charging irregularities in absentee balloting in the election.

He recently asked Gov. Michael V. DiSalle to order a state inquiry into alleged vote fraud and alleged illegal operations at the county home. The governor turned down the request, saying he could not justify such action because there was no evidence of a breakdown in local law enforcement.

Baldine said Prosecutor Lynn B. Griffith Jr. had failed to act on his request for such an investigation.

GM, Chevy et Officials Indicted In Trust Case

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A federal grand jury has returned antitrust indictments against General Motors Corp., four Chevrolet sales executives and three Southern California dealer associations.

The jury charged the defendants with conspiring to stop individual dealers in Southern California from selling through discount houses.

GM Board Chairman Frederick Donner denied the accusation. He said GM frowned on the discount dealers' lack of service facilities and other customer conveniences—but did nothing to discourage the discounters.

The indictment, prepared by the Justice Department's antitrust division, said "shoppers" were hired by the defendants to determine which dealers were selling cars through discount houses. The shoppers would buy cars and the defendants would "induce or persuade" dealers to buy the cars back.
